Residency Information

Choose one of the following:       Massachusetts Resident       New England Resident       Other

Massachusetts Resident:

In order to qualify for in-state tuition rates, you must have proof of Massachusetts residency. You are considered a Massachusetts resident if you have lived for at least six months in a Massachusetts verifiable place of residence, and intend to continue living in Massachusetts for the duration of your attendance in a public, state-funded college. I understand that if I present an in-state address I will be eligible for in-state tuition rates only if I am an American citizen, or a permanent United States resident living in Massachusetts for at least the last six months. All Massachusetts residents must also complete the enclosed Massachusetts Community College In-state Tuition Eligibility Form.

New England Resident:

In order to qualify for the New England states' resident tuition rates, you must have proof of residency in Connecticut, Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire or Rhode Island.

Note: International or foreign students are not eligible for Massachusetts/New England resident rates.
